BA-BA-LOO!

Can you believe it's been five years since our tenth anniversary?! I had hoped that we would have had time to extend the life of the Maximum Overkill issues more than we have, but that's okay. But, yes, we are celebrating fifteen years of fandom. Since you all know I have moved, and we turned our operations online, we have difficult times meeting up. While there is something in the works for a physical meeting, there has been discussion of separate parties via skype. I think this is a great idea as many of us have to travel great distances to meet up. I think an open channel on skype between all of our homes is not only an interesting idea, but also bringing a bit of the 21st century into our lives. Now if only transporters were invented. LOL

So what is this "Imperial Intruder" stuff going on? Well I had figured that it was time for a change for us when it comes to building a paper newsletter. I am working on a way to create a full color one that will be saved as a downloadable PDF for all of you. I have successfully created a short prototype (similar to a double sided single sheet newsletter) that was full color with detailed images and such. The only issue was that the PDF came out just barely big enough to send through gmail. Anyways, the Imperial Intruder is basically M.O. overhauled with a more of a magazine look that I've been wanting to crank out. Who knows if there will be any other issues under this name, we can discuss it online.

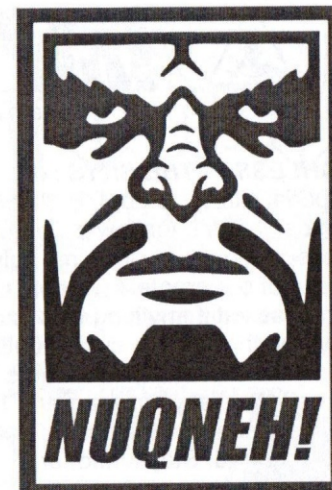

The Empire is still thriving with many of our plans being initiated. I have recently been appointed as the head of the Imperial Ministry of Propaganda. This means you'll see a lot of artwork from me and the new crew I am compiling. If you have any graphic needs, set your sights to the IMOP for someone to help you out.

Most recently, I was appointed as the head of House Klag after General Qoregh had to step down due to health issues. My honorific is now epetai- (which sounds good next to my military rank of Major). I will be working with Emperor Klag on getting our recruitment papers updated. If anyone who reads this is lineless, then contact me and I will send you some information on our House. If you an honorable warrior who wants the most out of his Klingon experience, then we might be the house for you.

With that, I hope you enjoy this issue, I had a blast putting it together and it made me think of the old days when a newsletter was a staple of a Klingon chapter and the only real way we could communicate to the mass majority of Klingon warriors.

Fortune Favors the Bold.

IMPERIAL NEWS

If we haven't heard it, then it's news to us.

KAHLESS IN THE SKYS (with dylithium)

Imperial citizen, D'goth, is claiming that has seen the face of Kahless in the clouds. In our interview he is quoted in saying "I was outside of my trailer chasing the local kids away from my spinning daisies when I looked up and saw the image of our greatest warriors to have ever lived."

When asked if anything was exchanged, sleepy eyed D'goth said, "No, he just hovered there in the clouds until the wind blew him away. The last I saw of him, he drifted over the hills towards the gam'che river." Is this a sign of things to come? "No." says one expert. "D'goth is well known in this sector for outrageous claims (usually in the field of battle), but there is no proof other than his word that this occurred. Stay tuned for more info.

"Unkle" Kahn appointed Head Minister at IMOP

House leader, "Unkle" Kahn epetai-Klag, has been recognized for his artistic talent and has been the primary force for reconstruction of the Imperial Ministry of Propaganda. Kahn has been known to create elaborate and creative fliers and artwork for the club since it's founding. He has also contributed countless hours creating new art or rebuilding art for members to use. Among the art department being staffed, Kahn also created an Imperial Archives division to coordinate with a staff of individuals who will aide in production of The Empire's Klingon Encyclopedia Project. Qa'pla KAHN! May you continue to serve The Empire with honor and bring glory to your name and your House.

IKV BLACK DEMON ~ 15 Years!

Let it be known that one of the founding chapters, and one of the longest run Klingon chapter has lasted 15 years! The Black Demon started it's life much like most of the chapters have, in the arms of another club. But after The Empire was formed, the crew decided to relocate the chapter to a club that would help them get the most out of their fan experience. Qa'pla to the crew of the IKV Black Demon, may you continue to serve the Klingon empire for many years to come.

WIN A RAIDING PARTY!!!

Time is running out to win a Raiding Party. This offer is only valid to members of the Federation, the Obsidian Order, the Romulan Star Empire, and anyone else who could use the skills of a group of warriors. By skills we mean drinking, eating, singing, and fighting. If you are the lucky winner, you will receive a party of Klingons (minimum of six) right at your door steps! You will be responsible for them for one full day, provided you feed them food and booze. IF they deem you worthy, they will accompany you to work where they will intimidate the boss and leer at the heavy chested secretary. Also up for bar mitzvah's, brisses, and children's parties.

Ask Arizhel

Q: Arizhel, My mate comes home drunk every night and doesn't help around the house. What should I do?

~ Vixis

A: Honey, this is nothing new when it comes to having a mate. If this has become a ritual of his that you have grown tired of I suggest you wait for him one night and as soon as he stumbles into the house, beat the living shit out of him. When he wakes up, he'll think it was a bar fight and will think nothing else of it. In the meantime, you've gotten your revenge on him and your frustrations out. Be careful, this could lead to pregnancy.

Q: Arizhel, where can I find the nearest Romulan Boxing arena?

~ K'boq

A: You aren't going to find any in the old quarter of the first city that's for sure. The High Council has been trying to clean up that area for tourists. This also includes no more "Houses of Dishonor" hidden in back alleys too. Might I suggest you Check out a few places in the Hek Tar sector. I have heard of many arenas in that area.

Q: Arizhel, Why does it hurt when I pee?

~ K'Leek

A: I'm not touching that with a ten foot painstick. Until next time! May Khaless smile on you. ~ Arizhel

THE IKV BLACK DEMON

A BRIEF HISTORY OF THE CHAPTER

15 years ago, April 1st 1992, a group of friends who enjoyed Star Trek (and all things science fiction) got together and created what was the first Klingon chapter in the DFW area. Their commander was only 16 years old when the chapter launched as a B'Rel bird of prey. The IKV Black Demon stayed a bird of prey style ship after a successful recruitment drive almost doubled the ship's numbers.

For about 10 years the IKV Black Demon crew met at two separate locations due to the distance between groups of members. During that time there was a one person spin off chapter called the Imperial Listening Post (ILP) Black Staff. While the Black Staff didn't develop into a full fledged chapter, it's still worth the mention here. Post Operator, Warg (Sean Ovalle), did the most he could to promote the club we were a part of and the word about Klingon/Star Trek fandom.

Five years ago, after The Empire got to rolling along and a few more crew members were added to the roster, the crew felt it was time to upgrade. After looking over the three potential and believable designs were offered the crew discussed which would be the easiest design to adapt with existing model kits. When the voting had been tallied, the crew of the IKV Black Demon decided on a design that was called the "Kang Class Attack Frigate". Since no one ever wanted to be a frigate, we decided that since we were not your average Trek fans, we felt we made the wisest decision. So far, we are the only chapter to use this design as our chapter identity.

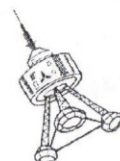

B'Rel / K'Vort
(1992-2002)

While the "Kang Class Attack Frigate" is not a canon style ship, we felt that since it was designed using canon parts, then it was a believable concept for the transition era (TOS to TNG) that we portrayed in our uniforms and overall appearance. Not to mention that this design is reminiscent to the K'Tinga/D-7 that is widely identified as a Klingon vessel.

What is a "Da'Har Master"?

The title was first used by John Colicos's Klingon character, "Kor". Although an exact description is not given, it is implied that Kor holds this title for his past strategic and military efforts. A defining factor was his victory over the Romulans in Year of Kahless 2270 in the "Battle of Klach D'Kel Brakt". The most notable aspect is that a "Da'Har Master" is highly respected throughout the Empire.

In a recent game release called "Klingon Honor Guard", it is insinuated that the term "Da'Har Master" is the leader of a school of a fighting style much like the Terran martial arts. In the game, the player is a new recruit of the Honor Guard and must investigate the attempted assassination attempt of Chancellor Gowron. The player fights his way from mission to mission; he begins to reveal the plot and the conspirators behind it. At the end, he must fight the treacherous leader of the Honor Guard, after discovering his heinous involvement. After defeating the leader, the player character is bestowed the title of "Da'Har Master" by Chancellor Gowron. By these descriptions, it is a title that is earned for great deeds of valor and honor and bestowed by the Chancellor of the Empire.

Klingon fandom has a tendency to generate it's own concepts in areas that are not clearly defined. There are many ideas about this title and even though each one is different, that does not mean they are wrong.

Almost all Klingons are skilled in most hand and energy weapons. But the need for high skill in these leads to the concept of a "Da'Har Master". They would be so proficient in handling and use of weapons that they could perform realistic combat without actually inflicting damage. Thus some "Da'Har Masters" could come from the theatrical community, while other could be military trainers. After all, the average Klingon could tell the difference between a rehearsed fight and one that is conducted by pure skill.

Another is actually considered by one who studies and has adapted terran forms of martial arts to develop the Klingon fighting form known as "Mok'bara". By these descriptions, the title is earned for mastery of weapons or unarmed combat.

It is also consider that a "Da'Har Master" is someone who has earned the respect of his peers and has made major contributions to Klingon fandom as a whole. These individuals are not skilled fighters, or strategists but someone who continues to keep alive the concepts that most members of Klingon fandom find the most appealing. Loyalty, Duty and most of all "Honor" are the main traits that draw many individuals to the ranks of being a Klingon.

This is seen not only by those who dress as Klingons, but those who write about Klingons or depict Klingons in art or strive to follow those concepts in their personal lives. Being Klingon is a mind set, and a feeling of the heart. It is from this that those worthy and respected earn the title of "Da'Har Master".

No matter which description is chosen, a "Da'Har Master" is revered for their efforts, skills and accomplishments and has no authority over other Klingons except by the respect they have and continue to earn in eyes of fellow members of Klingon fandom.

HOW WE GOT OUR NAME

Over the years I've been asked about the name of our chapter. Sometimes I tell people the truth, but many times I make up an answer that's off the wall. One of my favorites was "a horse I used to bet on". That one usually gets a few laughs. A little known fact is the name wasn't the first one to be considered. Before we voted on the name, we had to consider: Bloody Talons, Nighthawk, Darkhawk, Poisoned Fang, & Midnight Phantom. I threw Black Demon in as a last resort. To me the name conjured up images of a Klingon ship decloaking against the black vastness of space as it unleashed a fury of torpedoes and disruptor blasts. But if it wasn't my love for an obscure muscle car, I may have not come up with the name. Back in the late 80's I started getting a hot rod magazine for a xmas gift. In one issue, there was an article about a guy who souped up 1971 Dodge Demon. The car in the article was Dodge blue with black stripes, but it got me wanting to know more about the car. Luckily my old man had a few hot rod mags stashed back from the late 60's - early 70's and sure enough, there was an article that had a black 1971 Dodge Demon reared up on it's back wheels as the xmas tree hit green. At that point, I was in love. Sadly, today I still haven't gotten my hands on a 71 Demon, but when I do it will be black. So there you go, that's the whole truth on the origin of the IKV Black Demon's name. Not very interesting. But, if you did find it interesting and want to know more, do a wikipedia search for the Dodge Demon. There you should find the history, a few photos, and links to collector clubs.
